Tools You Can Use: Unitex "Wash Cycle" Blog

At Unitex we are constantly working to provide the tools that will help our sales and account reps service our customers. These tools come in many forms—a video, a printed brochure, a blog, an ad—which provide opportunities to educate and make contact with customers.

This month's feature is the Unitex "Very Clean Blog" called the Wash Cycle. The blog covers a variety of topics that can be of interest and useful to you and your customers. Recent posts include 4 Ways Hospitals can Save Money and How to Celebrate the Holidays With Your Assisted Living Residents. Read the blog for yourself and/or email the link to your contacts and start a conversation!
