Unitex Healthcare Breaks Ground on Two New Plants in Lawrence, Massachusetts

Unitex is excited to expand into Massachusetts and is breaking ground on its twelfth and thirteenth plants in Lawrence. The new 188,000 square foot space will house two plants, one specifically dedicated to serving hospitals and nursing homes and the other servicing outpatient medical facilities. The plants investment will exceed $30 million, will employ 350 local people and are projected to open in Summer 2020.

“In reviewing a variety of options for new plant development in New England, Lawrence became an obvious choice once we had an opportunity to meet with the Mayor and his leadership team,” said Robert Potack, CEO of Unitex. “The support and collaborative approach that they took in understanding the goals of our project was apparent from our first meeting. By adding capacity to our system we have the ability to significantly expand our reach in Massachusetts and throughout New England.”

“Innovation and enhanced efficiency will allow us to continue to be the low-cost producer in the market and high value provider to our clients,” said Michael Potack, Unitex Chairman. “We are excited to get this project underway and we are thankful for the welcoming atmosphere that Lawrence has provided.”
